

DR JABULILE MSIMANGO-GALAWE
SHORT BIO

Jabulile is the founder and managing director of DrJ Business Support (Pty)Ltd and the program director of the MM – Business and Executive Coaching at the Wits Business School. She is also responsible for the MBA coaching (personal and leadership development) component of the leadership quest. She is an Entrepreneur, Statistician, Business and Executive Coach, Entrepreneurs’ Mentor, facilitator, public speaker, researcher, senior lecturer and author of the book titled Dear Mr Entrepreneurship

She holds a PhD in Entrepreneurship (Wits Business School) and an MSc in Mathematical Statistics - Risk analysis (University of the Free State). She recently completed a certificate in effective mentoring and coaching at Wits Business School and is currently doing her masters by research looking at the role of leadership coaching in women leaders’ development

She has about 20 years of working experience including approximately 10 years spent in the entrepreneurship space of which five years of that was spend in mentoring and coaching. She also has corporate experience which includes but is not limited to statistical analysis, risk analysis, trading and management consulting. “Teachings are made up of life long experiences that open us up to the world” These are but a few things that are true when it comes to Dr. Jabulile Msimango-Galawe. DrJ as she is known is a teacher, a mentor, and a coach who prioritizes holistic growth and personal leadership as a key ingredient to personal and professional development. With her work she mentors and supports young entrepreneurs and professionals who are creating paradigm shifts within their industries.

She is very passionate about people development and entrepreneurship especially the development. Her passion has led to her spending a lot of time empowering, training, mentoring and coaching entrepreneurs and professionals especially young people