

Alexandra Barosa-Pereira is a Practitioner, a Researcher, an Educator, and an Author of Coaching. She is a Professional Certified Coach (PCC) by ICF, a Certified Coach Mentor (CCM), and she has an Individual Team Coaching Accreditation (ITCA) by EMCC and an Advanced Certification in Team Coaching (ACTC) by ICF. In 2004, she started researching, releasing the first dissertation in Coaching in Portugal two years later. Since 2007 her work has been focused on corporate, team and executive coaching, behavioural change, and leadership development, having clients from a various range of industries and geographies. Since 2007 I've been partnering with consultancy and coaching firms like Mercer, PwC, Korn Ferry, Talentis and UNLOQ in coaching projects. In 2009 she founded ABP Corporate Coaching, assuming the commitment to developing organizations through coaching adapted to each reality, with a deep respect for the frame of reference of People and Organizations - values, identity, and purpose. She has more than 2.500 hrs. of executive, leadership and team Coaching with C-levels, Directors, and Managers.

Alexandra has worked as a trainer and mentor of other coaches worldwide in ACTP Programs between 2010 and 2016. Since 2019, in partnership with NOVA SBE (Executive Education in the Top Portuguese University) and Henley Business School, she has been the Executive Coordinator for the "Executive Coaching: Coaching Leadership & Culture" Pos-graduated Program.

Alexandra has a bachelor's in Sociology, a master's in psychology, and a PhD in Management (dissertation: Dynamic Team Leadership Coaching towards Business Results). She has books, chapters in books and papers published on Coaching themes. And she has been speaking internationally about coaching, namely: Coaching Cultures in Organizations, Intercultural Coaching, and Team Coaching.

Volunteer work is also part of her schedule. She served ICF in the Research Committee, in the sub-committee of sponsorship for an ICF Global Conference and as a member of a Prism Award Reviewing Task Force. She co-led the Expat/Intercultural Coaching CoP for two years, and between June 2018 and January 2020, she served as VP of Operation at the ICF Portugal Charter Chapter. She is also the Executive Director of AIETORG (an international association for intercultural research) since 2015.
